November 2018

Annual WACC Road trip

On Sunday the 11th of November, WACC members went on a chocolate, history and whiskey photographic road trip. The day commenced with members receiving their lucky dip and road trip instructions. The road trip commenced in Wodonga and finished in Corowa.

The first stop was the farmers market in Rutherglen to take a promotional photo that will 'sell' the market. The goal was to capture the atmosphere and excitement of the people and produce.

Next we all went searching for old vintage signs. Many of us chuffed up and down the main street trying to spot a weathered or rusty sign with flaking paint or faded colours.

A difficult subject to photograph was something that had feathers or fur. For some reason the birds were few and far between, however a couple of photographers were spotted photographing an old moggy squashed on the road just outside Corowa.

In Corowa we searched high and low looking for symmetry in the natural environment before finally visiting the whiskey and chocolate factory for a little taste testing and a delicious lunch.

Finally, we all went in search for the Corowa ladies' undergarments display. This proved difficult, though I guess with global warming, there isn't much underwear to search for these days 😊

WACC would like to thank Helen Bishop and Louise Peacock for organising another fun outing for its members. Top work ladies!
